

Rubric - Projectile Motion Visual and Audio Creation Project

	3 Marks	2 Marks	1 or 0 Marks
Visual	The visual covers all the important aspects of the motion of the projectile in terms of time, velocity, acceleration, and displacement in the x and y components. It is easy to read and has textual depiction to explain the motion.	The visual covers most of the important aspects of the motion of the projectile in terms of time, velocity, acceleration, and displacement in the x and y components. It is mostly easy to read and has textual depiction to explain the motion.	The visual is missing some or all of the important aspects of the motion of the projectile in terms of time, velocity, acceleration, and displacement in the x and y components or it is not easy to read or understand.
Audio	The audio covers all the important aspects of the motion shown in the visual and the presenter leads the viewer in the logic of the visual. It is synced with the video and is clear and easy to understand.	The audio covers most of the important aspects of the motion shown in the visual and the presenter somewhat leads the viewer in the logic of the visual. It is synced with the video and is clear and easy to understand.	The audio is missing most or all of the important aspects of the motion shown in the visual and the presenter somewhat leads the viewer in the logic of the visual. It is not synced with the video or isn't clear and easy to understand.
Presentation and Collaboration	The wiki link and visual/audio link are posted on the blog page on time. The wiki page demonstrates each group member shared the work load and contributed to the completion of the project.	The wiki link and visual/audio link are posted on the blog page on time or one day late. The wiki page demonstrates each group member somewhat shared the work load and contributed to the completion of the project.	The wiki link and visual/audio link are posted on the blog page on time or two or more days late. The wiki page demonstrates each group member somewhat or did not share the work load and contributions for the completion of the project.